EL CAMINO

Mark - It's been some kind of a year. I am not really sure what I got out of it. Hope you Real don't say the same thing. Real soon we will be flying down the street in a '70 Mustang. Remain mellow until that time. Also have a summer filled with girls, drink, and parties!
Byrd

MARK,

It's been a pretty mellow year except for when you got the shaft from your mom. The thing that sucks is the bud wasn't even worth getting caught for. Give me a call if you get some good stuff and we can go out and rage.
Hasta,
Jason Paley

To Mark -
From the greatest split end of all time (Pilgrim or Loyola), we've been friends for a long time, so take care over the summer & see ya next year.

Ed.

To Mark,
It's been another long, but fun year at our second school together. So, you want to meet my white girlfriend (Frank's cousin). Well, too bad (J.K.). Hope to have a couple of classes or free periods with you next year. I'd feel stupid to say, "Have a great summer, so like we did at pilgrim, so I won't. Have a bitchin' summer!!! Say "hi" to all the babes for me. Stay horray, stay cool, and stay away from my girlfriend (J.K.). Party, get drunk, and get laid!
See ya next year.

Your friend,
Liz Lilla "90"

Mark,

I mean, you had to hate Edwinna. She was such a wench, but I had a blast in that class with an occasional joke or fart. That year in her class was the best, I hope Edwinna next year will be just as cool. — Don't party too hard over the summer, & take it easy on the women. EAT PUSSY,

Justin Stafford

mark,

Well we made it thru the year with the old Doc obviously. not as fun as you and don't forget to watch the friends programs to review for next year. Also don't forget that Repulment hydrochloric Acid will make people had a great time in Gough's class but it was too early to have school. h Aha next year my friend.
Awesome

HEY-

WHAT'S UP BUDS!
IT'S BEEN AN AWESOME YEAR! WE'VE HAD SOME KILLER TIMES. AND THE B'S were AWESOME! JAS AND I commend you! Over the summer we gotta get together and fully praise it!

BRO
L @ S #

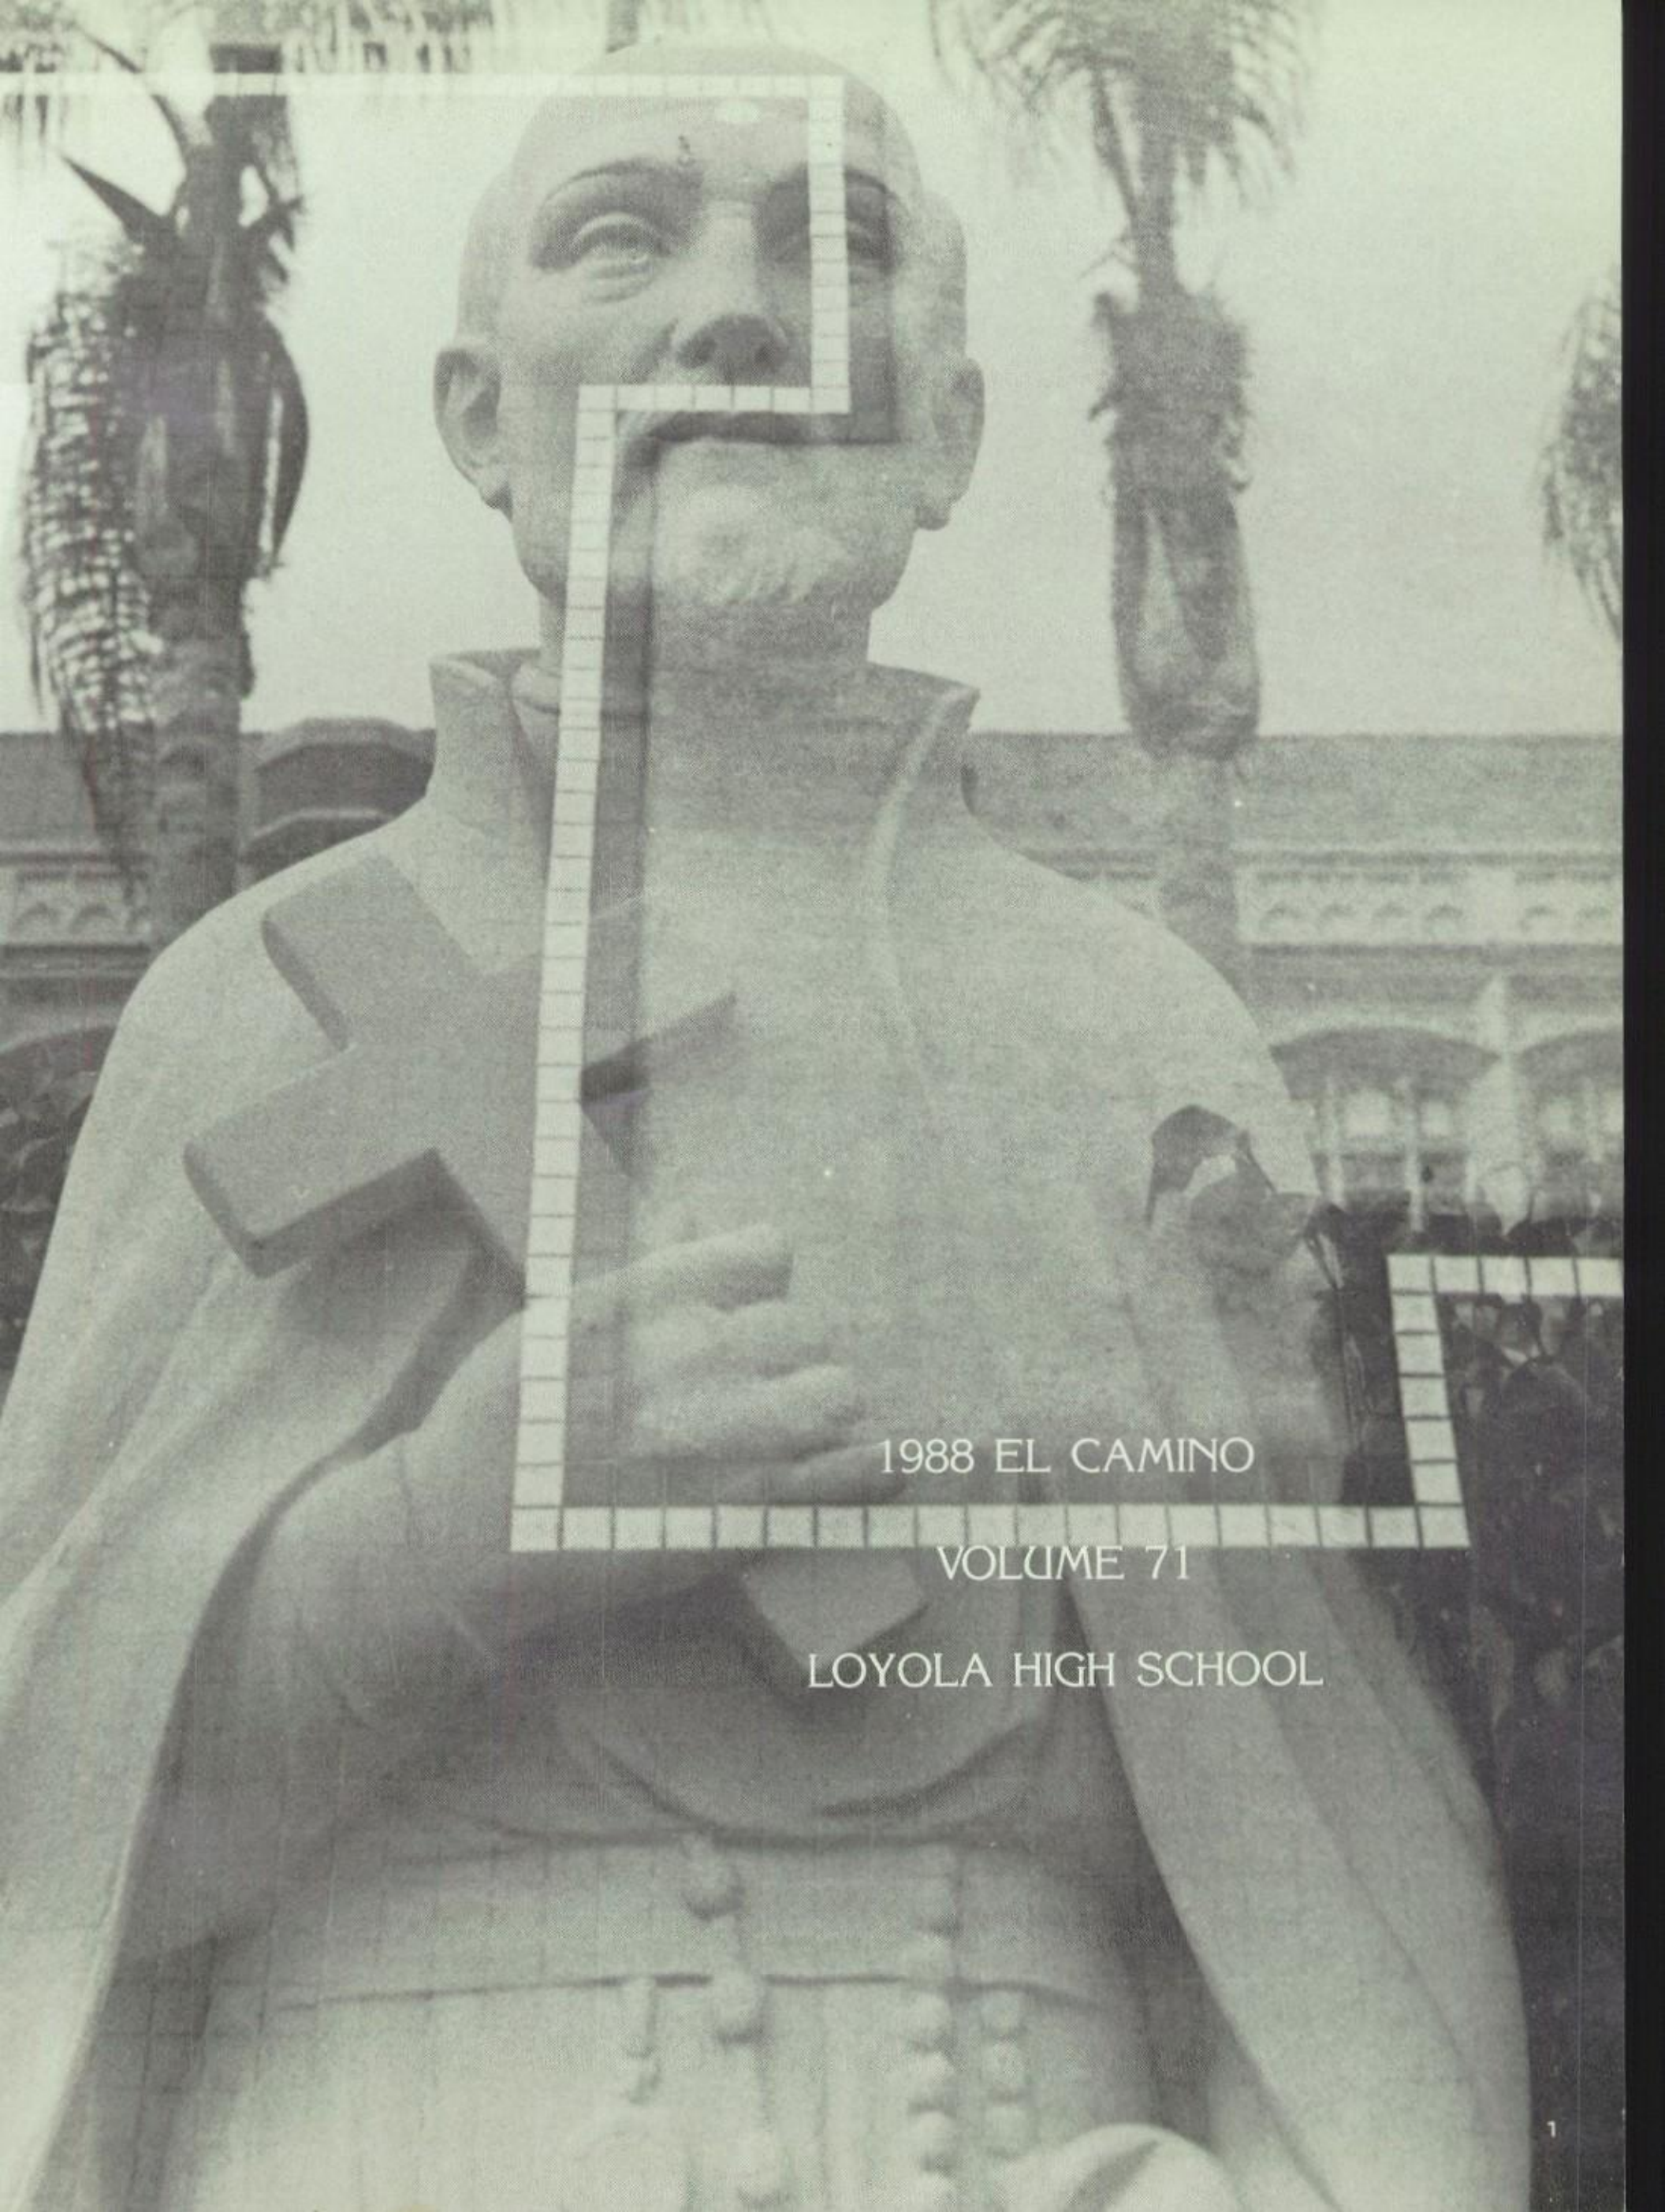

Mark,

Hey what's up. This year has been pretty mellow. Maybe next year we can be in some classes together. Maybe this year we can go and rage. Maybe you can come water skiing in Tahiti.

Later on René

Things making the size these we can have I am wishing soon so you. I hope that easy together some time that pussy and so take it. Haha so make it now with

Mare,
Stud! What's up?
It's summer time man!!!
We are going to have to party so hard this summer! It's been a good one dead. Hopefully I will see you at Sarah's party if I can stop by. I'll catch you this summer.
Adios Amigo!
Micah

DEDICATION

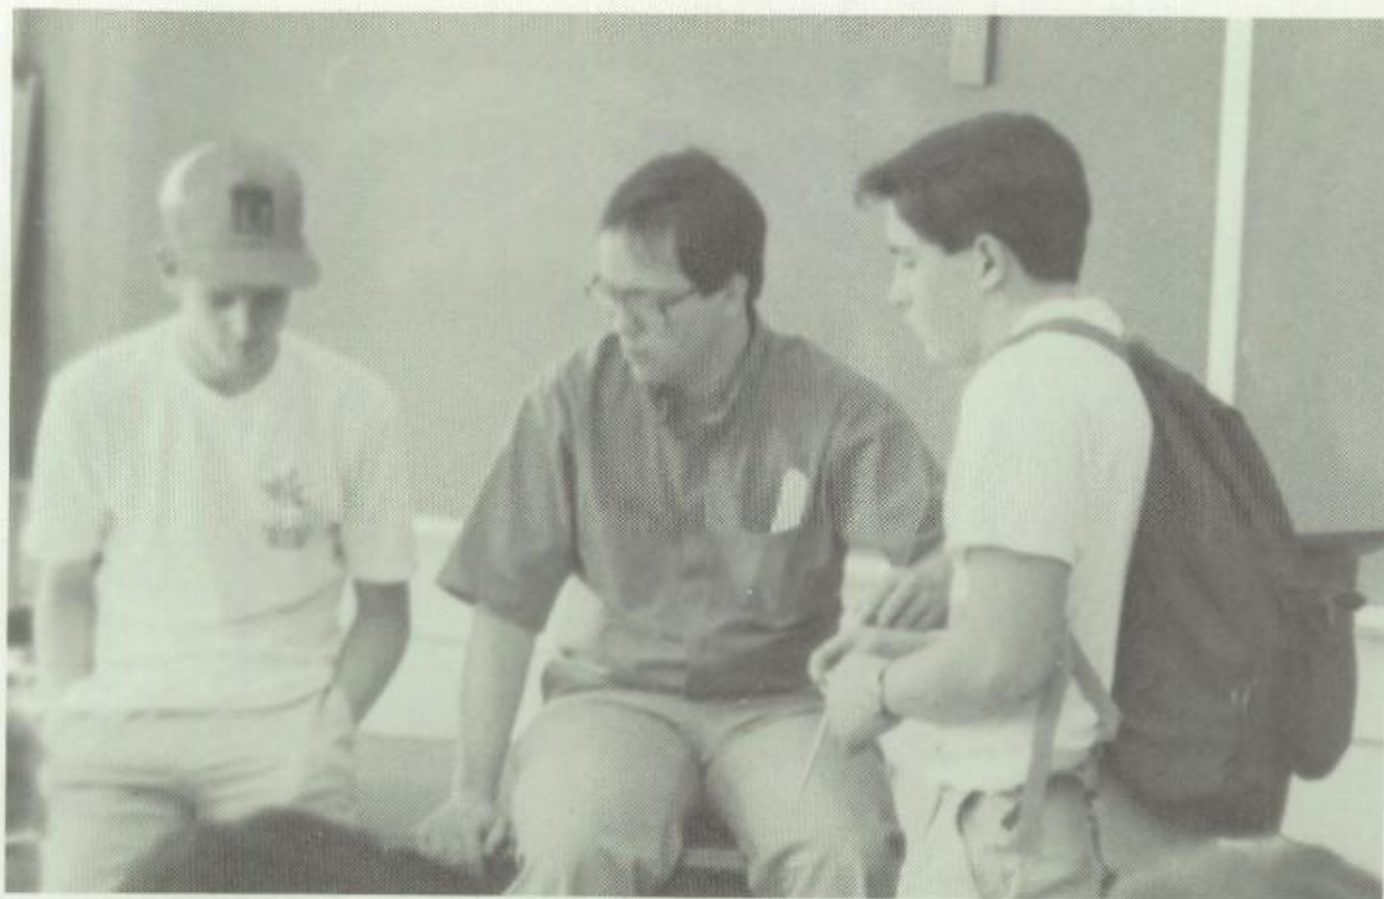

MR. GARY GATFIELD

From "birthing" new equations in the classroom to supporting us in our extra-curricular activities, Mr. Gary Gatfield has been more than just a teacher. he has been a friend. Always generous with his time, G_2 , as he is affectionately called, has dedicated countless hours outside of class helping us survive not only high school but life in general. For his selfless dedication, especially to the senior class, as teacher and moderator, set designer and retreat leader, confidant and friend, the class of 1988 proudly dedicates the 71st volume of the El Camino to Mr. Gary Gatfield.

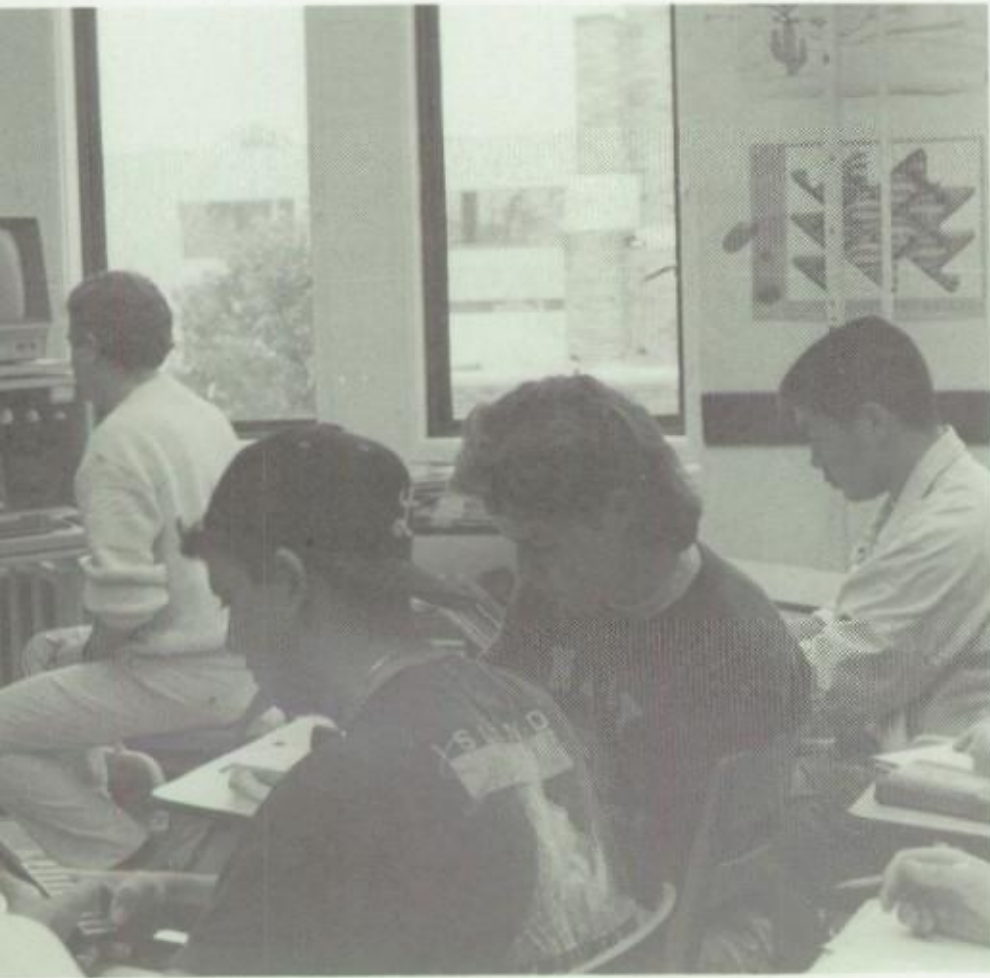

The beginning of a day at Loyola

The day yields achievement and failure

It pushes our minds and bodies and spirits

We rely on each other

WE ARE THE CUBS

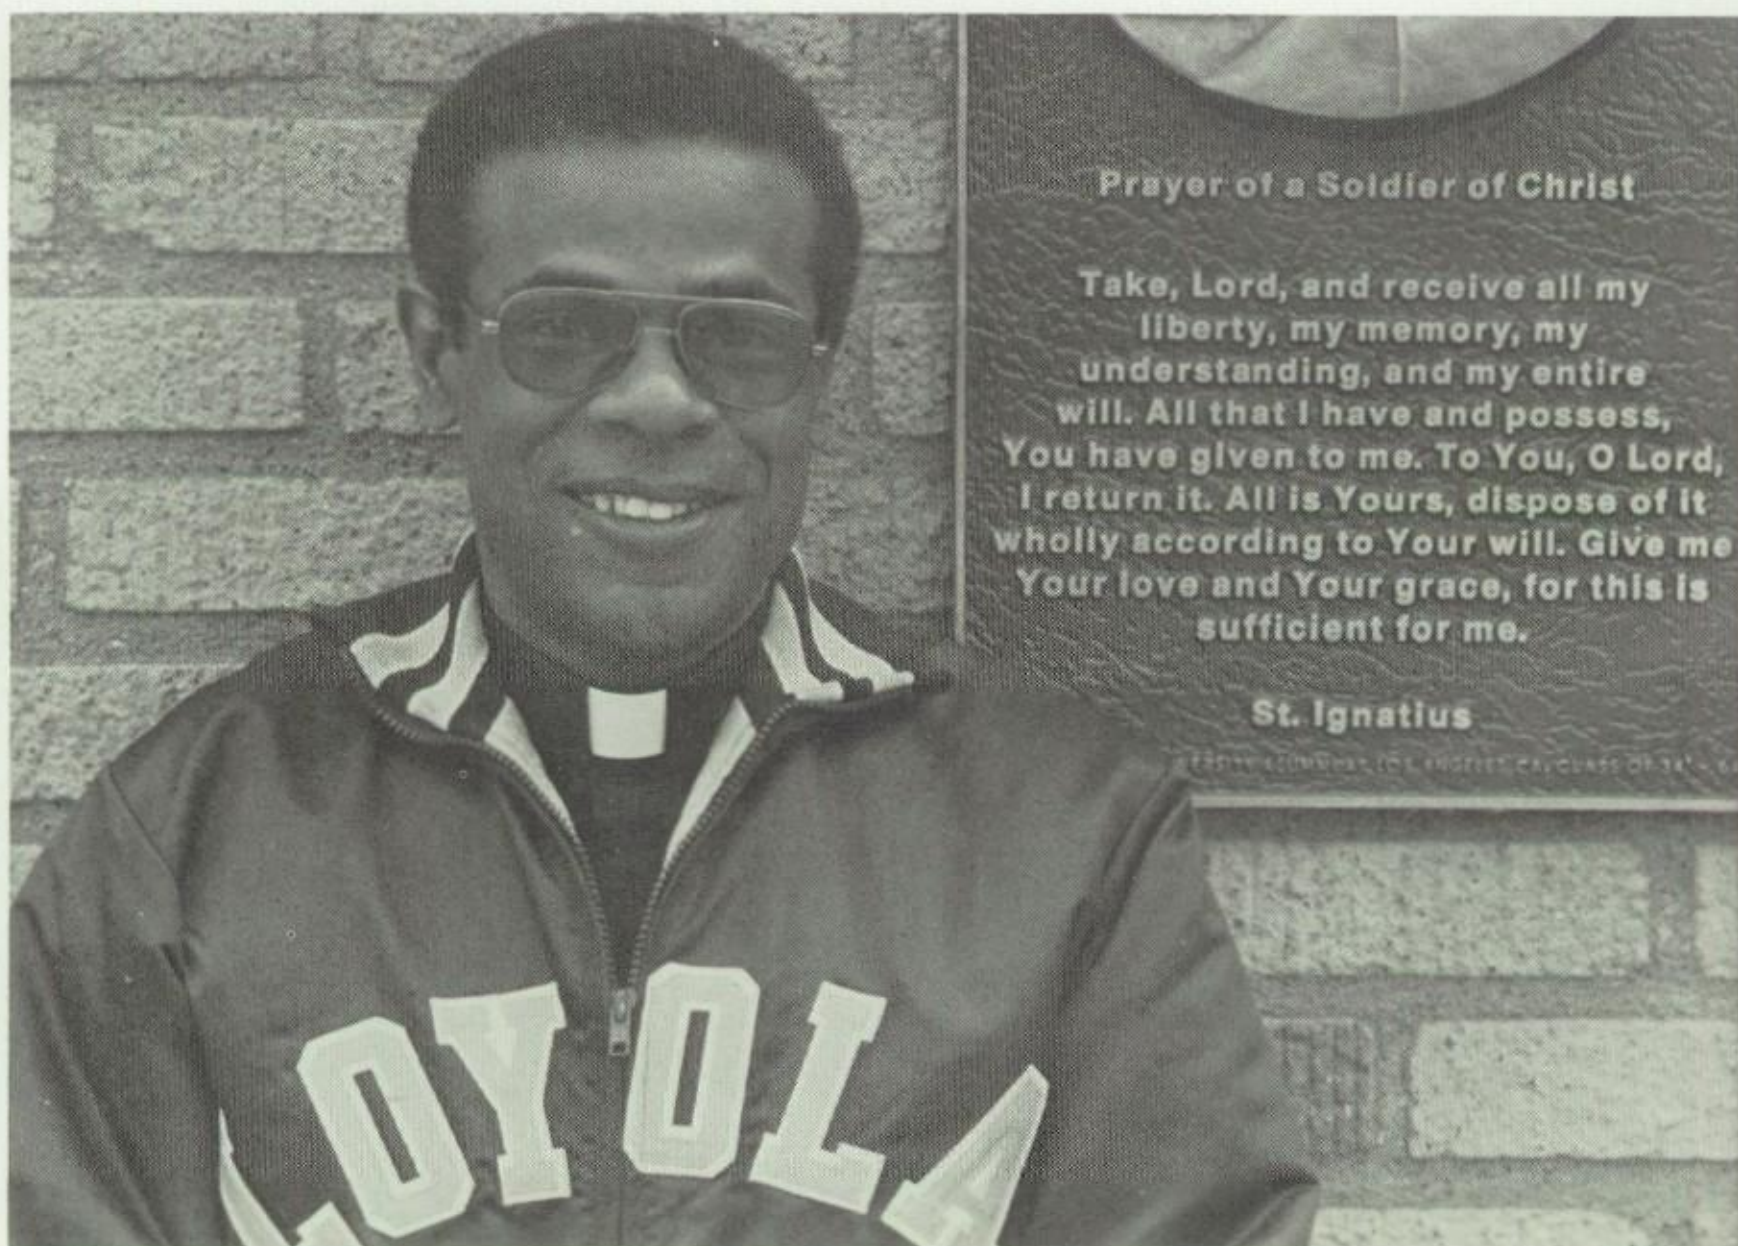

Neither among men nor among angels is there a more noble activity than to glorify your Creator, and to lead to Him as many other creatures as you can

The 1987 Loyola Cubs, considered questionable by many, proved themselves consistently throughout the season. The defense, one of the best in the state, was led by seniors Josh Price and Chris Hentz at linebacker spots and Marcus Pappas and Andres Kennedy in the secondary. Up front, Dan Glascott, Mike Gilhooly and Paul Sellers added the final ingredient to a formidable defensive attack. Loyola's offense got off to a slow start but finished strong in league with convincing wins over nationally ranked Crespi and rival St. Francis, thus clinching the Del Rey League title. Seasoned trenchers Jim Doran, Jim Vils, Tom Condon and Chris Bojorquez formed the backbone to an explosive assault. The Evans-Estwick connection became a familiar and unstoppable weapon. Beauty and the beast was the offensive backfield with senior Kevin Egan and juniors Johann Fuller and Mike Buckley providing a combination of muscle and finesse. The Cubs finished the regular season with an impressive 10-0 record. At this writing, Loyola has advanced to the second round of the C.I.F. playoffs to face Long Beach Wilson after crushing Westminster in round one. Our chances of going all the way are excellent and our hopes are high. On behalf of the 1987 Loyola football team I would like to thank the fans and the student body for your outstanding loyalty and support. John Nally #77

After a great summer, highlighted by a second place finish in the 2A Games, the 1987 AquaCubs went on to be a part of history at Loyola high school. Under the leadership of Coach Ed Profumo, in his fourth and final year, the AquaCubs captured their third Del Rey League title in four years. The AquaCubs literally swam over all their league opponents earning a 10-0 record for the second time in the Profumo era. Another highlight in the 1987 1987 season was the winning of the South Bay Tournament, a first in Loyola Waterpolo history. At the end of league action the AquaCubs were ready for CIF with a fifth place ranking going in. It was the first time any Loyola polo team has ever been considered to win CIF, and the AquaCubs lived up to this ranking by defeating Hacienda Heights Wilson and Santa Barbara in the first and second round. Then, the AquaCubs met the eventual champion, El Dorado, in the Quarter Finals. It was a repeat of the CIF Quarters two years ago, with the AquaCubs losing 8-6. Although it was a crushing defeat, the AquaCubs finished third in CIF, the highest finish ever for a Loyola High Water Polo team. The entire starting team received league honors. Seniors Chris O'Donnell, Joe Bryne, Chapin Hunt, Eric Boserup, and Leigh Utterback received first team selections, which David Madison received league MVP. Second team selections went to senior Billy O'meara and junior Jamie Moran, while the honorable mentions went to seniors Brian Hoegge, Frank Zamazal, and junior Doug Gocke. Other strong contributions came from seniors Speedy Fry and Dan Stone and juniors Stan Majcher and Josh Elliott. On a closing note the entire team would like to thank all the families that supported us through the year; it was great.

The 1987 Cub Cross-Country season began with great expectations. Coaches Ed Castellanos and Jack Gallagher were predicting that this squad would surpass the 1985 CIF Championship team. The only thing which loomed as a possible hindrance to Cub success was the lack of a fifth man. However, all fears were put aside when Mike Steuerwald arrived at the Mammoth Cross-Country Camp. He seemed to embody the aggressive racer that both coaches had envisioned. Meanwhile the other members of the team which included Captain Skardon Baker, Rene Rigal, Peter Hogan, Dan Limon, Tim Feely, and Andy Finn testified daily to this team's grand potential. One reflection of the team's strength came on the final day of camp when Captain Skardon Baker led a group of four runners under Michael McCracken's school record during the Horseshoe Lake time trial run. Nothing seemed capable of stopping the mighty Cubs — nothing except injuries. The first to fall prey to injury was Baker who hurt his hip at the Walnut Invitational. He would watch the remainder of the season mostly from the sidelines. Baker's demise was followed by injuries to Rigal and Fogliani. Nevertheless, the remaining Cubs, led by the hard-working Peter Hogan, filled in admirably, securing the Del Rey League title despite the lack of the number one and two runners. The Cubs competed in CIF competition at half strength and were forced to settle for an eleventh place finish. The 1987 squad would like to thank Coach Castellanos for his unending dedication to the program. He is already looking forward to next year's squad which will return five Varsity runners and members of the undefeated Frosh/Soph and Junior Varsity teams.

Cub soccer enjoyed its most successful season ever. Building on last year's Del Rey League Championship and disappointing first round C.I.F. loss, the Cubs began the season modestly with easy victories over St. Bernard and Culver City, a tie with a good Santa Monica team and a 3-2 loss to powerful Marina. The loss to Marina was in the first round of the prestigious South High tournament and was followed by four straight victories to gain the tournament's consolation championship.

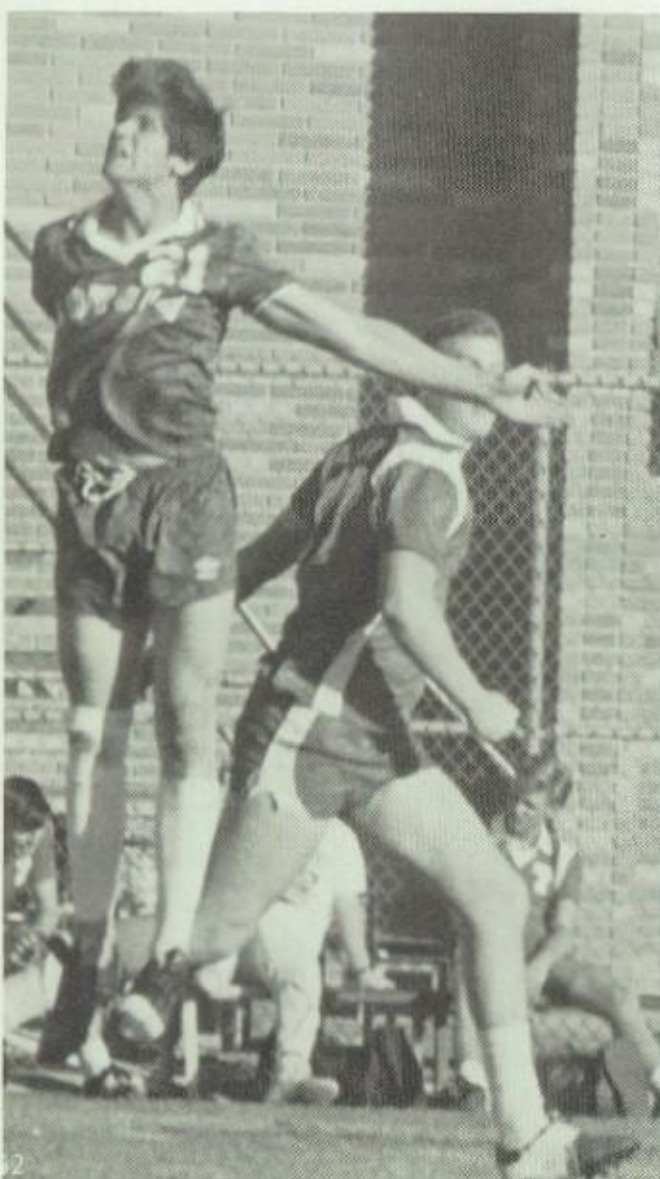

In the first round of Del Rey League play Loyola tied Crespi and St. Francis to go with four victories including a hard fought 2-1 win over Alemany to secure the league lead. From there, the Cubs were unstoppable, winning the Del Rey League Championship without a loss and crushing their first three C.I.F. opponents by a combined 13-0 score.

The Cubs were led all season by a virtually impenetrable defense which produced 12 shutouts and only allowed 14 goals in 22 games. The defense was controlled through the center by stopper Tim Heinen, Sweeper Eric Cardenas, and goalie Martin Groff. Consistent tackles by senior John Vandeveld and junior Mike Digregorio shut down opposing forwards. The offense was led by seniors John Wigmore, Leigh Utterback, and junior Kevin Cronin. Controlling midfield and adding extra scoring punch were seniors Bill Weber and Joe Newell along with junior standout Danny Limon.

With the help of coaches Burton Young and Mike Gaumer the Cubs have been physically and mentally prepared for each game of their record setting season.

The 1987-88 Varsity Basketball season was one definitely be marked in Loyola record books. The Cubs started their season with high hopes of success, and got just what they came for throughout the entire season. Loyola welcomed their pre-season play with championship titles in the Glendale Tournament and in our own Loyola Tournament. Senior Chuck Belcher was voted the All Tournament MVP for the Loyola Tournament, while senior George Jones was voted MVP for the Glendale Tournament. Under the direction of coach Bill Thomason and asst. coach Jeff Glosser, the Cubs defeated such teams as St. Bernard, Glendale, Banning, and Inglewood to give the Loyola squad a finishing pre-season record of 9-3. When league started, Loyola's hunger for the Del Rey title was strong. The Cubs managed to go 10-2 in both rounds of play, losing only to Bosco Tech and Crespi. In the first round of league, Loyola beat their opponents by a 12.4 point per game average, and in the second round by an 18.6 point per game average. Also, the Cubs clinched the Del Rey championship title in front of a capacity crowd of fans at Notre Dame — Loyola's first Del Rey title in ten years. Against Lakewood in the first round of C.I.F. 5A playoffs, the number one team in Del Rey fell short of a victory by one point in front of a home crowd. However, Loyola was gifted with six all league selections: first team honors to seniors Chuck Belcher, George Jones, and Jim West; second team honors to senior Dennis Canning. Also, the Cubs' own Jim West was selected as the Del Rey MVP in addition to first team honors.

The incredible help and support given to the entire team by families, friends, cheerleaders, and fans has been gratefully acknowledged and appreciated. A very special thanks goes out to coach Bill Thomason, coach Jeff Glosser, Fr. Ayers, Ath. Dir. Jon Dawson, managers Kevin Porter, Paul Eckles, Rob Alonzo, Jason Arnold, and Matt Brancale for helping make this 1987-88 basketball season so successful.

The Cub baseball team enters the '88 season with great expectations for the League Championships and a chance to compete in C.I.F. playoffs. Following an excellent summer and hardworking fall and winter in the weight room, the Cubs could fulfill its hopes after a disappointing season last year.

The team is again coached by Kelly Nicholson and his assistant Geoff Joy. Returning varsity players include Tom Petersen, Jason Evans, Sean Fitzpatrick, Art Saldivar, Eric Rhyne, Dan Meade, Tom Martin, Sean Chatman, Tim Heinen. Newcomers include Eric Bacura, Jason Pestano, Troy Burnett, Taylor Browning, Ryan Lefebvre, Matt Lobner, Brian Dennis, and Kevin Dellamico.

Coach Nicholson has high hopes for the upcoming season and feels that the key to having a winning season this year is strong pitching. "We will score runs this year", he says. Indeed the starting lineup for the Cubs has hitters who can both hit for power and average. If the pitching and defense can hold the opposition to a minimal amount of runs and injuries remain low, the Cubs will have a successful season.

The 1988 Aqua Cubs were back for their second successful year as Del Rey League Champs under the direction of head coach Carlos Dobal. The team was exceptionally strong this year and hoped to have a shot at winning the C.I.F. title. In order to attain this new goal, the team vigorously worked out twice a day and once on Saturday. There was tremendous talent on the team this year, and with the coaching of Carlos Dobal, success was bound to follow.

Returning varsity swimmers included Derek Hu, Bill O'Meara, Jeff Hilger, Pete Smith, Paul Yutan, Frank Zamazal, Joe Byrne and Leigh Utterback. Some outstanding swimmers that showed tremendous talent were Peter Shim, Mike Bragging, Chris O'Donnell, David Madison, Eric Boserup, Steve Parker, Chapin Hunt, Stan Majcher, James Moran and all-American Bob Childs. They were backed up by promising juniors Robert Light, Ted Duggan, David Noble and Matt Ingraham. The team this year had not only quantity, but quality as well. They planned to combine both these aspects for the most successful season ever.

VARSITY DIVING DEL REY LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

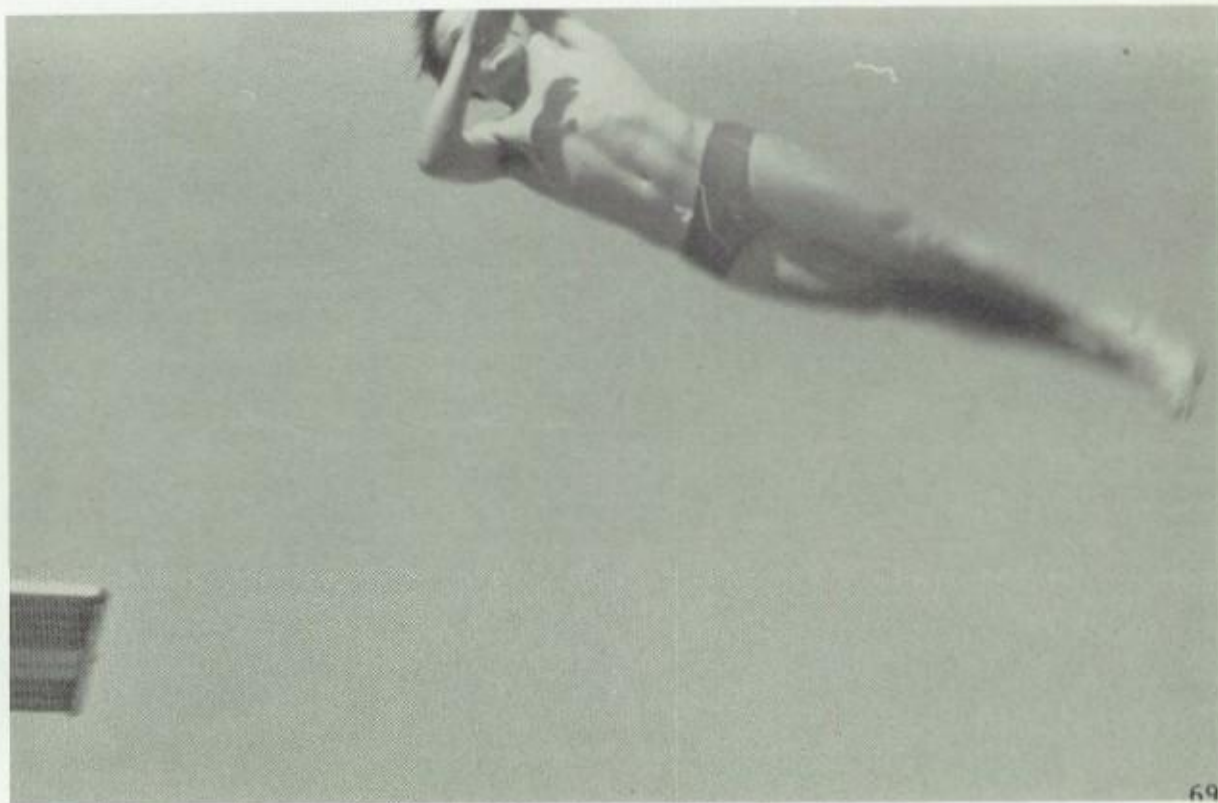

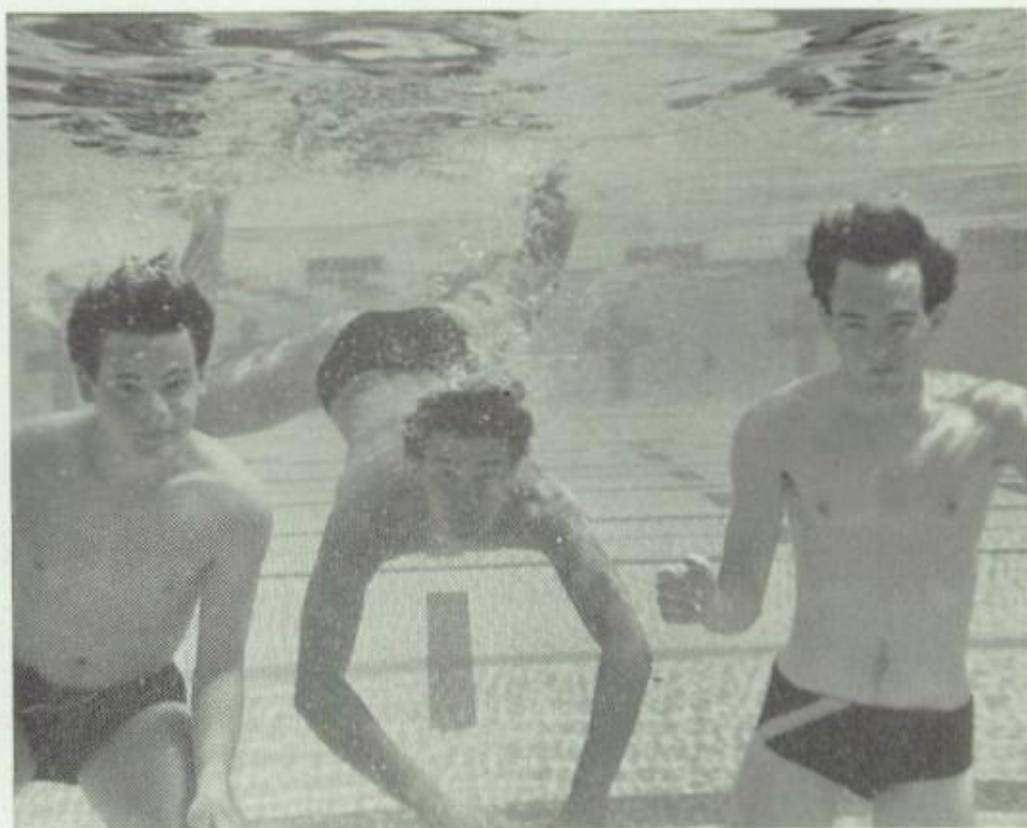

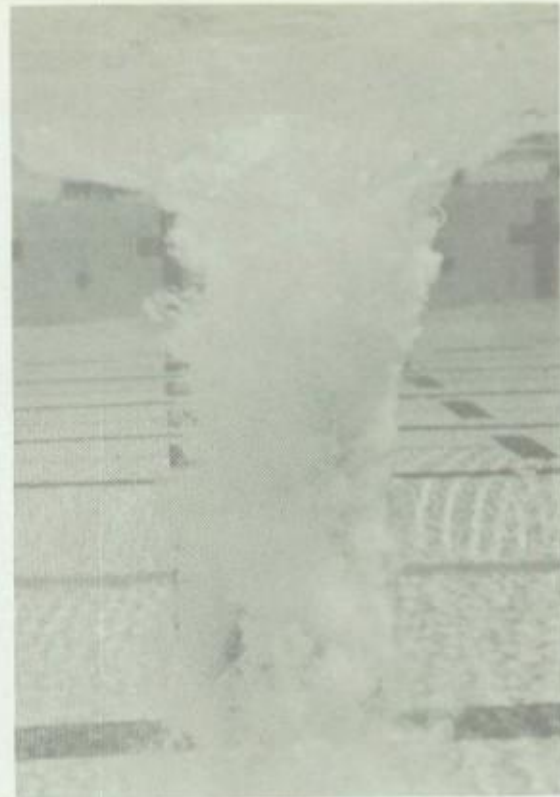

Members were: Mike Smith, Paul Barretta, Mike Kerker.

After standing in the shadows for so long, Loyola's diving team has stepped forward to finally make its mark as a valuable asset to the swim team. Last year the 1987 divers played a crucial role in the overall placement of the swim team in C.I.F. The outlook for the 1988 season was great. Returning from last year's squad to lead the Aqua Cubs were two C.I.F. qualifiers, Senior Mike Smith and Junior Mike Kerker. Newcomer Paul Barretta has added the needed depth and strength to the team which anticipates crushing their league opponents and continuing on to do well in C.I.F. Finals once again. The divers are scheduled to close their season in a highly competitive C.I.F. showdown against top seeded opponents San Marino and El Dorado. With the balanced attack of a strong swim team and the formidable force of the diving team, the prospects of a successful season and C.I.F. competition for Loyola are high indeed.

This year's Cubs looked as promising on the track and field as ever before. After giving up the Del Rey League title in 1987, the Cubs set their goal to regain their title of League Champions in 1988. The team was led by a strong middle and long distance team which included Charles Belcher, Rene Rigal, Peter Hogan, Skardon Baker, Mike Buckley, Dan Faccini, Andres Gutierrez and Marcus Papus. The strength of sprinters such as Johann Fuller, David Estwick, Joe Sinha, Paul Eckles, and Andres Kennedy was of vital importance in the Cubs' quest for the championship. The field events were led by George Jones, Dan Biles, Mike Morales and Rob Alonzo. The Cubs looked to be a top contender to regain the Del Rey League in 1988.

Having won three consecutive C.I.F. titles, the mighty Loyola Varsity Volleyball dynasty returned in 1988 expecting to capture an unprecedented fourth championship. The teeming abundance of talent was responsible for the Cubs Number One preseason ranking in the highly competitive 4A Division which the Cubs moved up to this year. Returning All-World Coach Roger Yano was highly confident of his team led by two of the most recruited players in the nation, Chris Wrede and Duncan Blackman. The rest of the starting line up demonstrated great strength at each position with Gabe Huntsman, Bill Bergstrom, John Anselmo, Auris Jarasunas, and junior Jimmy Klein. Loyola's depth on the bench was an incredible asset. Passing phenomena Phil Logsden and Jo Coronel could be called on any any moment for their groveling defense. Juniors Drew Tims and Chris Underwood along with sophomore Ryan Jamison could properly fill in at the middle blockers position. On the bench waited capable outside hitters such as Brett Banachowski, Scott Kelly, Eric Cardenas, Steve LaBella, and the ever-inspiring James "The Captain" Kerker. The backup setter was Mark "The Shark" Walmer. Never before was such talent assembled on one team, and the Cubs settled for nothing less than success.

After Battling their way to the final round of the C.I.F. 3A division last season, the Cubs are looking forward to another great season. After losing five seniors from last year's team, the Cubs are looking for some outstanding play from incoming freshmen. The goal for the team this year is not only to capture the Del Rey League, but yet another C.I.F. title. With strong play from returning senior Larry Bright, Junior David Johnson, and sophomores Mike Shea, Jorge Hallon, Brian Twente, the Cubs can't miss. The Cubs are looking for more strength from the new members of the team, sophomore Richard Hohne and freshman Eric Aponte, should be a winning team this season. The combination of new talent with experienced veterans, under the coaching of Dr. Antonio Morillo, could lead the Cubs to yet another C.I.F. title.

As the 1988 Golf season unfolded, excitement was the key word. The perennial Del Rey League power was out to take the crown which had eluded the talented Cubs for the past two seasons. Returning were many strong varsity players. Leading the way were seniors Scott Welsh, Angus McDonald, and Garrett Jamison. Underclassmen played a pivotal role in the quest for the title. Leading this group were juniors Tom Nixon, Greg Bell, Mike Hence and Chris Francis. Also aiding the team were Mike Baker, Jed Johnson, Tom Curran and Tom Gocke and Jim Martin. Despite losing two talented players from last year's team, which had a 7-3 record, the team was favored to win the league title. The key to success was the strong play of Tom Nixon and Scott Welsh as the leaders of the squad, along with the talents of such players as Angus McDonald, Tom Gocke, Jed Johnson, Chris Francis, Mike Hence and Garrett Jamison.

This year's Pep Squad was very spirited and united, thanks to the leadership of our captain Marissa Nuccio and our instructor, Andy Sison, '85. The addition of the Song girls made the Pep Squad the biggest Loyola has had in years. With our trophy from camp, and the subsequent competitions, the Pep Squad has high hopes for the future.

As activities coordinator, Nico Vilgiate brandished a new flair for generating school spirit. With such innovative and exhilarating ideas as Pep Rallies on Shepherd Field with extensive faculty participation, the staff managed to bring school spirit to new heights. The Pep Squad, slide shows, special musical performances, and teacher-student contests once again added that special excitement to make the 1987-1988 school year a success.

Intramurals

Under the guidance of Intramural coordinator Michael Gilhooly and Moderator Pat Holleran, the intramural program of 1987-1988 proved to be very successful. The diversity of sports enabled all interested students to tap their athletic desires and potential. Ping-Pong, the new addition to the intramural program, proved to be the craze of the year. Special thanks goes to the Intramural staff, and all the students who participated in the many special, exciting, and memorable moments.

PUBLICATIONS AND PRODUCTIONS

the Loyalist

Despite receiving only one yearbook page this year, Volume 61 of the Loyalist combined consistency, quality, and staying within budget limits to produce a quality publication. Besides adopting a more casual atmosphere (editorial board meetings at Mrs. Field's Cookies, stopping production during selected Bob Dylan and Zeppelin songs), a highly talented staff that (you'd better sit down for this) worked together made the success of this year's paper possible.

Taking over the helm of the paper this year as Editor in Chief, Brian "I can't work now, I have administrative things to do" Peronne has brought the Loyalist back to its glory days of yore, as well as giving new meaning to the term "delegating authority." A great motivator, Brian settled for only the best and made sure that all phases of the paper ran smoothly. Although he fired every staff member once (except Bill, with whom it was a daily ritual), powertrips were kept to a minimum, and rumor has it that he even personally glued down two articles and a shadow box. From planning to printing, "Bri-guy" was there every step of the way.

Steve "Why can't we bag on other people's families?" Calde served as managing editor. Steve gave all kinds of new and interesting definitions to Steve did, however, work harder than just about anyone else from basic conception of the paper to the delivery to the printers. Working with the handicap of his much deserved reputation for delinquency, Steve still managed to unite and motivate the staff. In fact, his only fault was that he actually liked everyone on the staff (even Bill).

From Newsbriefs to Steve's Stupid jokes to office conversation, no one can beat Steve's talent for really, really stupid puns, jokes, and riddles. Steve was undoubtedly an integral part of the success of the Loyalist this year and next year's staff will surely miss the endless supply of jokes that his family provided. Steve plans to stay in the media business by doing a series of Oxy-10 commercials.

Mike "Humboldt State summer of '87" Guina served faithfully as production manager. Mike turned the chaos of production from the first where excellence became the norm, not the exception. While flashbacks from his Humboldt State experience where he "built really neat environmental things" and the shooting of the movie Good Morning Vietnam sometimes impaired his work, Mike was always there directing his staff of clueless underclassmen to the bitter end. In addition, he managed to keep within his budget ($0.00) for sharp exact-os, oines, and those really neat rubber erasers. Although Mike became the victim of one of the staff's favorite phrases "who cares, blame it on Guina," he always managed to keep a smile on his face. Skardon "I'll have $10,000 this summer" Baker kept track of all the money matters this year as business manager. Although he came notably short of his goals ($10,000), Skardon still managed to keep an eye on the budget and keep the ad revenue flowing while doing as little work as possible. Still, Skardon was always there, when he didn't have track practice, to design a page, write an editorial, or just provide moral support. The staff to say those four magic words — "I got an ad!"

As News Editor, Bill "I'll have a 3.5 by semester" Tieman had the thankless task of having to run articles based on fact. However consistently found ways to print front page news articles that were (horrors) found interesting and more often than not based on truth. "Brawler" Bill also has the distinction of being the only editor so far to actually draw blood from our fearless leader Brian. An integral part of the paper's success, Bill Assisted from start to finish on every issue, and managed to write more articles than English essays. Special thanks also to his mom, known to all as "Mrs. TI" for her cheerful phone messages that kept the staff in good spirits.

Despite the nasty habit of changing around what people say and putting quotes around it," Greg "whattya mean I can't change quotes around?" Mohrman did an excellent job as Sports Editor. Always on time with articles and page design, Greg should also be commended for giving press time to freshman and J.V. sports and for his innovative sportsfeature articles (which he tried to sneak on the newsfeature page to have more room for sports). While his occasional overly-rebellious nature didn't quite mix with his two-year old and always smiling face (we're talking always) Greg gave 100% throughout the year, even during basketball.

John "I can't work, I have another disease" Schueller did what he does best as Feature Editor. Despite artfully dodging production responsibilities by contracting unknown dis-eases at just the right time, John has consistently produced entertaining feature sections. Using experience gained last year as production man-innovative page design with quality articles. He also managed to get his articles assigned and collected on time consistently — a feat most of the staff found difficult to accomplish. Probably best known for his "out of control" nature, John will always be remembered for his Stanford exploits.

Alex "come on guys" Lapeyre kept the photography department in top condition and, more importantly, put up with the antics of Chris Aguas and lived to tell about it. Alex particularly liked the way the photo chemicals affected his hair (yes, he is required to carry a permit). Halim "IT is I" Habiby managed to quickly get all the typesetting off to our friends at Andresen's. He also cut down on the numbers of typos and organized an efficient staff to help him.

Tom, "What's an ad?" Kirages managed to help out with photography, production, and just about everything else except ads. Tom was a big help however, and always one of the last people to leave, now if he could only kill his brother ... We are all sure that one day he will actually get an ad from Princeton Review. Peter "I love mailing lists" Kipp always got the issues out to alumni and friends without a hitch, albeit a little late sometimes. Peter also kept staff morale high by keeping what could be the most positive outlook on life known to man.

The success of this year's Loyalist simply would not have been possible without the support of everyone who has helped us throughout the year. Helpful seniors, who did not have a position but probably should have, include Jeff Hilger, Peter Lefevre, Bill Weber, Tom Brown, Erik Hilsdale, John Sichi, Bill O'Meara, Mike Hull, and, of course, Chris Aguas. Chris helped out a lot, but no one ever got around to telling him that he did not

The faculty and the staff of LiHi also helped out in numerous ways and made life a lot easier for us. Our deepest and most sincere thanks go to Mr. Jerry Frumento, our moderator. He has given us the freedom when we wanted it, advice when we needed it, and always brought great snacks. We would also like to thank Mr. Kozakowski for his countless hours of work with the computer frontier. Instead of paying for a professional typesetter, Mr. Kozakowski became our typesetter and we are extremely grateful for his time and bert Jin spent many hours helping us get used to the Macintosh. He patiently put up with our requests and only got really angry once. Thanks Albert! Mrs. Salvaty always had a friendly smile and a friendly copy machine. Her time, effort, and kindness went well beyond the call of duty. It is even rumored, though not confirmed at press time, that Fr. Carroll, S.J. said something positive about the Loyalist.

And so ends Volume 61 of the Loyalist, the result of teamwork, talent, hard work, humor and a healthy dose of KLSX. Good luck to Volume 62 in all your endeavors: our only words of advice are to just wing it.

INTER CHANGE '88

Once again Loyola's annual fundraising auction, the Interchange, proved to be a smash success. One of the primary fundraising activities sponsored by Loyola, the Interchange has gathered close to $3 million. Money goes towards funding school projects and keeps tuition costs down. Special thanks to all the parents, faculty, students, and especially Fr. McDonald, S.J. and Fr. Cahalan, S.J. for their hard work and effort in making the Interchange the success it has been.

THE UNTOUCHABLES

CAMPUS MINISTRY

Retreats

The Junior and Senior Retreats in beautiful, sunny Montecito, round out the Loyola education. These experiences offer a chance for the realization of strengthening faith as well as trusting new friendships. Under the leadership of Fr. Ayers S.J. and Mr. Rob Samonte, S.J., the retreat house has seen many groups pass through its doors. The retreats vary greatly. The Junior retreats stress group participation, yet strives to create an atmosphere where one can be comfortable with others and still be comfortable with himself. The Senior retreats, on the other hand, seek to create a reflective mood: it asks the seniors to look at themselves and their relationship with God. Thanks to Fr. Ayers, Mr. Samonte, and all of the faculty directors for their spiritual guidance and counseling.

Christian Action Movement

Liturgy

The liturgy is the heartbeat of Loyola. Throughout the school year our religious celebrations unite the students in God's love. The Mass of the Holy Spirit in September introduced the religious theme for 1987-1988: "To see you more clearly, love you more dearly ..."

Senior Project

This year's senior project was a smashing success. Taking over the duties from Father Ayers, Father Kevin Leidich got things under control during summer and early September. "Rev Kev" challenged seniors by weeding out many of the less demanding placements. This year's placements ranged from aiding the retarded, blind, homeless, providing counseling, and many other duties. Since its conception eight years ago, the senior project has given seniors a chance to grow from experiences most don't have the opportunity live. The personal growth gained from helping others is an amazing and wonderful feeling all seniors mutually share and appreciate. Thank you Fr. Leidich S.J. for the time and effort.

GEORGE PETER RASIC October 6, 1969 - May 6, 1986

George was . . . more than a friend, more than a cousin, and more than a brother. He was more than a boyfriend, a classmate, or a ride home from school. He was more than a son. Now, you may ask, what was George? He was someone who helps you out with the dishes after Christmas dinner. He was someone who went somewhere with you when no one else would. He was someone who lent you money in time of need and never pressed you to repay him. He was someone who would wait for you on the slopes after you'd take a fall. He was someone who knew your deepest, darkest secrets, but never revealed them to anyone. He was someone who you could know for less than a month, but love like you knew him forever. He was someone who you could do nothing with and really enjoy it. He was someone who would give you a large scoop of ice cream and charge you for a small. He was someone who would make an error in the field, shrug it off, then win the game for you later.

These are just of the few things that we feel about George. We'll all miss his smiling face and his unique sense of humor. We love you, George. Good luck, goodbye, and God bless.

-Joe, Mark, and Anthony Rasic

HENRY NEIL CUESTA 1970 - 1987

To describe my friend's talents and potential would take days. To describe the feeling of sorrow, sympathy and anger which I feel would take years. To stand here and reflect upon Henry is very hard. Yet, to find the words which best describe him is simple.

Never have I had a more loyal and honest friend. It wasn't just the many years we knew each other that made this friendship. But it was the understanding and appreciation which made that relationship between us so special.

Someone said to me the other day, "You don't appreciate someone as much, until they're gone." Well, with Henry, that's not particularly true. To know Henry Cuesta was to appreciate him. In the past years, Henry came through for me on many occasions. For example, Henry spent time with me every day helping me with my schoolwork. He went out of his way many times to drop off a book or give me a ride somewhere. Henry was known to give money to anyone who needed it, including the Santa Monica homeless. Not forgetting that he even got me my first job.

But the one characteristic that I admired the most in Henry was his ability to make me feel secure. Around Henry, I could accomplish anything. Whether it was riding to school with him or eating lunch with him, next to him I was able to face the world better as a teenager.

Henry's death was sudden and tragic, a senseless death. He will be remembered as someone special. He should be remembered by the way he lived his life, not by the way he died.

We will all miss him!

-David Sims

DAVID DEKERNION 1970 - 1987

This is an open letter written to Dave by some of his many friends:

Dear Dave,

Words seem so small right now, and there is no way we can express all of the things that we are feeling, thinking, and remembering. But we want to let you know how much we love you and miss you, and that there will always be a part of you in each of us. You are part of our lives, and we will never forget you.

You had the magic ability to spread your own good feelings to everyone around and part of your goodness rubbed off on each of us. You were always a true friend, and under all circumstances you were there, day in and day out. You never prejudged others, and you accepted everyone for who he was. That is why everyone could open up to you and always feel comfortable with you. You were a great surfer too, Dave, but you were humble about that, and never let your ability go to your head. Your name was always on the honor roll, but you never needed to make a point of it. Like the sea you loved so much, you had a depth that put everything into good perspective.

We shared many sunny and dark days together, but you always came out smiling and helped us to do the same. We have never felt so free or laughed so hard as when we were with you, and we need that smile and optimism more today than ever before. Dave's senior quote reads,

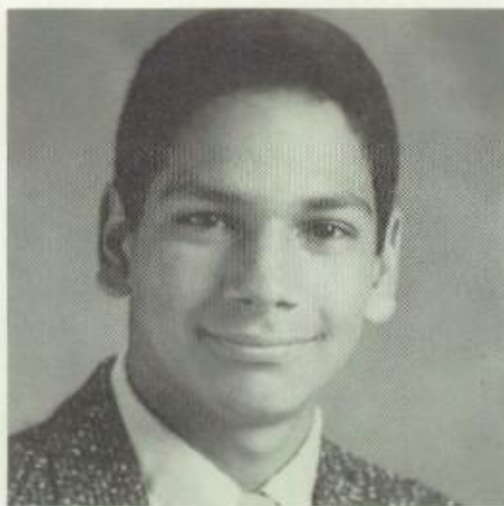

" 'He'd rambled long a rough, cold road, clothes got dirty and his conscience lay low, But he still loved life, peace, dew, and warm sun on Christmas snow. The lunatic, the lover, and the poet are of imagination, All compact.' WS I love you Mom, Dad, Kara, Grant, CRM, Victim Bros, sistas, peace. Inspiration, move me brightly!"

Dave, you were the lunatic, the lover, and the poet. You loved life, and life dearly loved you. May inspiration always move you brightly!

- Your Friends.

Dave, there is nothing left to say, but I love you, and hope to see you again someday.

Appearances can be deceiving and often times someone shouldn't pretend to be there if they are not. Anyways, lack of B's to the brain can drive a man insane. Pat, Dont party too hard with the cows. Eric, JUST STAY OFF THE ROADS! And anyone or everyone else it's been 4 long years and how the hell did I make it! WHO CARES

AAAH!

- RUDE, WHAT CAN I SAY,
I'M JUST THE STUD ARTIST.
FREE PERIODS ARE LIKE SEX - I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH!
BUT I'M WE'VE GOT THIS KIND OF PERIOD INSTEAD THE CHECK
KIND. SWEETNESS! I HOPE YOU STAY HAPPY THIS SUMMER
(SEX, DRUGS, ROCK N. ROLL)
& CONSUME ENOUGH CERVEZA
FOR THE BOTH OF US. YEAH
I LIKE MEXICAN FOOD TOO,
SO I HOPE YOU EAT SOME FRESH TACOS!
